TriVerse™

with TissueFect Sensing Technology

Overview

Valleylab, the world leader in electrosurgery for nearly forty years, has integrated its latest advancements in the next generation electrosurgical device. The Force TriVerse™ electrosurgical device allows you to access TissueFect™ sensing technology for hemostasis and division. It is designed with you, the surgeon, in mind and offers a range of options at your fingertips for precise control and tissue effect.

Key Features

- Three buttons allow control of cut, coag, and the new Valleylab™ mode
- Slider control allows the surgeon to change power settings from the sterile field
- Ergonomic design and gripping surface increases comfort and reduces slipping when used in wet conditions
- Sealed body eliminates fluid ingress that could cause energy leakage and burns to surgeon or patient
- EDGE™ coated blade

Benefits

- Equal or superior hemostasis when using the Valleylab™ mode versus standard cut or blend
- Lower lateral thermal spread when using Valleylab™ mode versus standard coag
- Move faster for division and slow down for coagulation of tissue with Valleylab™ mode
- Equal or reduced char when using Valleylab™ mode versus standard coag and blend
- Reduced drag and smooth passage through tissue when using Valleylab™ mode
- EDGE™ blade is easily cleaned by simply wiping with a moist 4 x 4 lap sponge or other non-abrasive material
